Hello, World.

Every website starts somewhere.

This is the first post on my new corner of the internet, built with Simpyll.

Why I Built This

I wanted a place to share my projects, ideas, and things I'm learning along the way.

Something simple, personal, and a little different.

What's Next?

I'll be sharing more about what I'm building, what inspires me, and the experiments that happen along the way.

Stay curious.
